An elephant's trunk is probably the most useful nose in the world. Of course, it is used for breathing and smelling, like most noses are. However, elephants also use their trunks like arms and hands to lift food to their mouths. Elephants can use their trunks to carry heavy things. Trunks are also used for communication. Two elephants that meet each other touch their trunks to each other's mouth. Sometimes a mother elephant strokes the baby elephant with her trunk to show the child her love.

4 Установите соответствие между текстами A–E и их темами, выбрав тему 1–6 из списка. Используйте каждую тему только один раз. В задании одна тема лишняя.

This text deals with ...

1) spoken languages.
2) the history of a country.
3) national food.
4) architecture.
5) climate.
6) a country's geography.

A. Hong Kong is a region of China located on its southern coast, with most of its urban areas concentrated on Kowloon Peninsula and Hong Kong Island. The territory is also spread out across 200 other islands. The area doesn't have enough flat land, on which it is possible to build cities. Most of the land is extremely hilly, sometimes even mountainous.

B. Hong Kong is a very humid place. The summers are extremely hot with occasional showers and the winters are sunny and mild with occasional cold winds from northern China, snow is very rare. The lowest recorded temperature is -6 degrees Celsius. If a summer is especially rainy, typhoons can sometimes occur, resulting in floods.

C. In 1842 Hong Kong became a colony of the British Empire as part of the peace treaty after a war between Britain and China. Over the years the colony slowly expanded into the nearby islands. By the end of the 19th century Hong Kong had become a major economic center. In 1997 the region was returned to China, but its system of government is still separate from China's.

D. Even though over 90% of the population of Hong Kong is Chinese, more than half of them have some form of British nationality. Most of the people of Hong Kong speak Cantonese, but over half of them also speak English. English is considered the second official language in Hong Kong. The mixing of two languages is very common in informal conversation among the bilingual portion of the population.

E. Hong Kong has the largest number of skyscrapers in the world with 317 buildings over 150 meters tall. This is in part a result of the high density of the population in Hong Kong. Skyscrapers and high-rise buildings are a good way to fit more people into a small area of land. Many older buildings are being destroyed and replaced by high-rises.

Now we are ready to start.

Receptionist. Welcome to Redwood hotel!

Customer. Hello. My name is Mrs. Green.

Receptionist. Let me see. Ah, yes, you made a reservation two weeks ago, for a single room for 5 days.

Customer. This is correct. But I would like to change that to 7 days.

Receptionist. All right. Here's your key madam, it is room 309 on the third floor.

Customer. Thank you. How much is that?

Receptionist. It is 50 dollars a night, so $350, but you have a 10% discount for early reservation, so, $315 all in all.

Customer. I see. Is breakfast included in that price?

Receptionist. Yes, breakfast is served from 7 till 10 in the morning, the restaurant is on the second floor. But for dinner you will have to pay extra.

Customer. Do you have a swimming pool?

Receptionist. Yes, and it is also included in the price.

Customer. Thank you.
